Revolutionary zeal still high: Patty Hearst

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Her long and violent journey into the underground at an end, Patricia Hearst sent a message to her radical comrades today that her revolutionary zeal remained unchecked.

"Tell everybody that she's smiling, that she feels free and strong and sends her greetings to the brothers and sisters out there," said her attorney, Terrence Hallinan.

As the details of events leading up to her sudden capture began to emerge, Miss Hearst and two of her comrades in arms, William and Emily Harris, were returned to the federal building here for their second court appearances in as many days.

After spending the night in a county jail south of here, where she met her parents for the first time since her kidnap and conversion by the Symbionese Liberation Army, Miss Hearst and the Harrises were transported back to the city in a tightly guarded auto caravan.

FBI officials stressed the capture was the product of solid investigation, not luck, although one agent familiar with the case said that it was not known in advance that Miss Hearst actually would be inside the residence raided by police and the FBI on Thursday.

The most intensive fugitive hunt in the nation's history came to a swift conclusion Thursday with the capture of Miss Hearst and three fellow radicals. It had been 19 months since she had seen the parents she reviled for their wealth after apparently joining the militant band that kidnaped her.

Asked if he would put up the bail money to free his 21-year-old daughter, Hearst replied, "I think so."

Terrence Hallinan, attorney for the newspaper heiress who was kidnaped by members of the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army on Feb. 4, 1974, said he would seek reduction of the $1,050,000 bail at a hearing today.

An FBI official in California said, meanwhile, that the sudden and dramatic capture of the heiress-turned-terrorist came unexpectedly when police and FBI agents went to a house here seeking someone else in connection with the Hearst investigation. Miss Hearst and her comrades were arrested without resistance, officers said.

However, a spokesman for the FBI in Washington disputed that report. He said agents "had reasonable basis to believe that Patty Hearst was in the Morse Street house in San Francisco when she was apprehended."

An FBI agent in Sacramento said agents were looking for an unidentified person linked to the SLA and had no idea Miss Hearst or her fugitive companions were there.

Miss Hearst and a radical companion were arrested by two policemen and two FBI agents, one of the arresting officers said.

San Francisco police officer Tim Casey said he and FBI agent Tom Padden went up the back stairs to the third-floor apartment while his partner and another FBI agent went up the front stairs.

Casey said Miss Hearst's companion, radical Wendy Yoshimura, came to the door first "and saw us in the window."

"Padden told her to freeze," Casey said. "Patty came up behind her."

"Then they both bolted back. Padden shouted for them to 'Freeze! Get over here and open the door.'"

Casey said that when Miss Yoshimura opened the door, Miss Hearst turned around, and he said: "Patty! Don't make a move. All right," she said.

He quoted her as saying: "Don't shoot, I'll go with you." Casey said he asked her if she had a gun. "She said, 'Yes, in the purse in the bedroom.'"

Casey added, "I asked her if she was glad it was over, and she didn't say a word."

When Miss Hearst was booked into jail, she listed her occupation as "urban guerrilla," a sheriff's sergeant said.

At the San Mateo County Jail, 35 miles south of here, where Miss Hearst and William and Emily Harris were taken following arraignment, another inmate said the newspaper heiress answered a question as to how she was caught by saying, "I wish to hell I knew."

"I said, 'It's been a long time since we've seen you,'" Evelyn Broussard said. "And she said, 'I wish it had been longer.'"

"We were just sitting there and two policemen just came through the door," Mrs. Broussard quoted Miss Hearst as saying. Mrs. Broussard, 23, who was being released on bail on a parole violation charge, said she talked with Miss Hearst while the latter was being booked.

Earlier, Miss Hearst, who faces both state and federal charges, smiled broadly and waved at reporters as she left the San Francisco federal courthouse in a tightly guarded caravan.

Mrs. Harris gave a clenched fist salute as the car pulled away.

The Harrises were arrested about an hour before Miss Hearst and Berkeley artist Wendy Yoshimura, who was turned over to Alameda County, Calif., authorities to face a charge of possession of explosives.

Stephen F. Soliah, a 27-year-old housepainter, also was arrested at the house where Miss Hearst was staying. The FBI said he would be charged with harboring fugitives. U.S. Atty. James L. Browning said more arrests on that charge might follow.

It appeared that the cross-country search for the only known surviving members of the SLA finally was ended by a combination of diligent police work and luck.

Paul Young, agent-in-charge of the FBI's Sacramento office, said his agents were seeking an unidentified person linked to the SLA and gave the San Francisco FBI addresses of several houses here.

Young said these included both a Bernal Heights house on Precita Street near where the Harrises were arrested while jogging down the street and the Upper Mission District house on Morse Street where Miss Hearst was captured.

"But we had no idea the Harrises and Miss Hearst were there," Young said.

Authorities said Soliah was the brother of Kathy Soliah, a known associate of SLA members.

Miss Soliah, who dropped from sight several months ago, had been a visitor to Miss Yoshimura's imprisoned boyfriend, and there was speculation that when Sacramento agents gave the two addresses to San Francisco, they may have been seeking Soliah for questioning.

Charles Bates, special agent-in-charge of the FBI's San Francisco office, could not be reached for comment on Young's statement.

But Bates said that for about two days the FBI had been watching the house where the Harrises were caught.

"It was not a tip, just digging out people who might have information, on the periphery, building it up from that," Bates said.

An FBI agent guarding the Morse Street house, who declined to give his name, said about 10 automatic weapons were found inside. San Francisco Police Inspector Gary Kern said authorities searching the Precita Street house found several automatic weapons, 40 pounds of explosives and two gas masks.

Miss Hearst was arraigned before U.S. Magistrate Owen Woodruff on federal bank robbery charges, which carry a $500,000 bail, the same amount set for the federal firearms charge filed in Los Angeles.

Miss Hearst is also wanted by Los Angeles police on 19 state charges ranging from kidnap to armed robbery, charges carrying $50,000 bail.

The Harrises, still wearing jogging outfits, also appeared before Woodruff for a hearing on firearms charges. Harris.

30, was expelled from the courtroom when he gave a clenched fist salute and shouted, "This ain't no big deal, comrades. Long live the guerrilla!"

He and his wife, 28, were also sought by Los Angeles on 18 state charges.

Acting Los Angeles County Dist. Atty. John Howard said Miss Hearst and the Harrises would be taken to Los Angeles next week for arraignment on the state charges.

Miss Yoshimura, 32, had been sought by Alameda County authorities on charges of possessing explosives in connection with several bombings.

The whereabouts of the four fugitives had been a mystery for more than a year, with unconfirmed reports placing Miss Hearst at various times in Algeria, Latin America and most of the 50 states.

Miss Hearst was a sophomore at the University of California, living in a Berkeley apartment with her fiancé, Steven Weed, when she was kidnaped at gunpoint by members of the SLA.

Patty tells parents she wants to go home

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Catherine and Randolph Hearst took their daughter Patty a bouquet of yellow roses when they visited her in jail today. They said she told them she wanted to come home.

It was the first time the two had seen their 21-year-old daughter in 19 months.

Earlier, Mrs. Hearst told a reporter firmly:

"I don't believe she will give up 19 years of love. She was only 19 when she was forced to look down the barrel of a gun."

After the Hearst family's reunion with their daughter, a sheriff's deputy said Miss Hearst could keep the roses in her cell.

"We told her we loved her and hugged and kissed her. We just said we love each other," Mrs. Hearst told reporters clustered around her at the San Mateo County jail in Redwood City, south of San Francisco.

Newspaper executive Randolph Hearst stood at his wife's side as they spoke briefly with reporters before returning to San Francisco.

"She was happy," Hearst said. "She was ready to come home."

The Hearsts, both smiling, said no one cried during the reunion they had been waiting for over 19 months.

"Her sisters (Vicki and Anne) are up there talking with her now and we had a very happy discussion talking about family matters," Mrs. Hearst said.

When Patty's father arrived in San Francisco after his flight back from a New York business trip, he was asked what he would say to his daughter.

"I'll tell her what every other parent would tell her — that we love her and we'll do everything we can to help her," he told the crowd of reporters and television cameramen pressing in around him.

Recalling how she heard the news, Mrs. Hearst said her first thought was "thank God" when her husband called her from New York.

Then, Mrs. Hearst said, "I started trembling."

Although she worried about her reunion with Patty at first, Mrs. Hearst told Associated Press photographer Rick Browne on a flight from Los Angeles that she could "handle it" if Patty were upset.

In New York, Hearst talked to a reporter briefly as he hurried to catch a plane back to San Francisco. He seemed tired and he sighed several times during the interview.

"I know there will be some hassles and some rough times in store, probably a bumpy road. I don't see there is anything to worry about though," he said.

Nineteen months ago Miss Hearst was kidnaped. Soon after, she joined up with her kidnapers, the Symbionese Liberation Army, and called her family "pigs."

Mrs. Hearst was sitting in a University of California Regents meeting in Los Angeles when her husband's call from New York came Thursday.

When she walked back in the meeting room after the phone call, she looked pale and she was fighting back tears. "They've found Patty," she said in an almost inaudible voice.

It was the day Catherine Hearst, a deeply religious Roman Catholic, had been waiting for. "Our prayers have been answered," she said.

Later in San Francisco, when her first attempt to meet with Patty was blocked by authorities, Mrs. Hearst appeared composed, but her voice quivered.

"I'm very disappointed. It wasn't the way it had been represented to me when I had been told previously that I would be able to see her," she told a reporter in the federal courthouse hallway.

Steven Weed, who was engaged to marry Patty when she was kidnaped, said, "I really care about her." He added: "The question is I don't know if she wants to see me right now."

Consumer price rise is smallest in three years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices rose only two-tenths of 1 per cent in August, the smallest monthly rise in inflation in three years, the government reported today.

Projected on a yearly basis, the figure for last month would indicate an annual inflation rate of only 2.4 per cent.

The administration registered surprise at the figure and expressed doubt that it would indicate a trend. Government analysts said it was to soon to tell if a trend was beginning.

But the August price report was welcome news following July's explosive 1.2 per cent jump in retail prices and an eight-tenths of 1 per cent increase in June.

"Obviously this two-tenths of 1 per cent figure is lower than we expected and we do not expect that rate to be sustained," White House Deputy Press Secretary William Greener said.

"The underlying rate of inflation is a good deal higher...and just as we considered the June and July CPI to be an aberration on the high side, we consider the August figure to be an aberration on the low side," Greener said.

With the moderation of inflation last month, wage earners also saw their first increase in real spendable earnings in three months. Real earnings over the past year also were up for the first time in any year-to-year period in more than two years.

Food prices, which rose sharply in June and July, showed no increase last month, a factor which held down the over-all rise in consumer prices, the Labor Department said.

The government said lower prices for beef, fresh vegetables, cereal and bakery products slowed the rise in food prices. The decline in beef prices was the first in five months.

Price increases for commodities other than food, including used cars, gasoline and other energy products, increased five tenths of 1 per cent in August, smaller than the nine tenths of 1 per cent rise in July and within the range of monthly increases during the first half of the year.

The cost of services also rose five tenths of 1 per cent in August, about the same as the average monthly increase throughout the year.

Economists regard the non-food commodity portion of the consumer price index as a more accurate measure of inflation because the highly volatile food sector often fluctuates sharply from month to month.

After slowing down this spring, the rate of consumer price increases accelerated during the early summer months, reaching a 14.4 per cent annual rate in July.

Over the past three months consumer prices have risen at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 8.7 per cent, compared to an annual rate of 12.3 per cent for the three months ending in August, 1974.

Last month's increase was the lowest since a reading of one tenth of 1 per cent recorded in August 1972.

In August, the Consumer Price Index stood at 162.8, up 8.6 per cent from a year ago. This meant that a variety of goods and services which could have been bought for $100 in the 1967 base period now cost $162.80.

Weekends in jail for man convicted in car death

OREGON—An Oregon man convicted of reckless homicide and failure to report a fatality accident within 48 hours, was sentenced this morning by Circuit Judge Thomas E. Hornsby to one year's periodic imprisonment.

Judge Hornsby ordered Robert Schaffer, 52, to serve weekend imprisonment in Ogle County jail for 52 weekends. Schaffer was additionally granted three years' conditional discharge, a type of probation which allows a person to not report to probation officials.

Schaffer's driver's license was additionally suspended for an indefinite period.

Schaffer appeared in court with his attorney, William Fearer, during today's pre-sentence hearing. He was convicted on the charges Sept. 2, following a week-long bench trial before Judge Hornsby.

Schaffer was arrested by Ogle County Sheriff's Deputies following an intense investigation into the death of Nancy Reid, 20, Chana, killed after being struck by a car outside Rochelle a year ago.

Fearer himself took the witness stand today and testified, without being questioned, to his long-time friendship with the defendant. He said confinement would serve no redeeming value for Schaffer—"he and his family have already suffered for what has happened."

Schaffer could have received up to three years' imprisonment on each offense, a fine up to $10,000 or probation.

West Germany, Europe's sick man?

By HENRY J. TAYLOR
FRANKFURT, West Germany—“We're way out on a long, thin plank over a stormy sea,” one of West Germany's most consequential bankers tells me. He referred to the nearly incredible degree to which this country relies on exports.

Germany is the best seller to all European nations and the most important customer of seven. Her heavy-equipment industries depend 50 per cent on exports, the decisive chemical industries 33 per cent, troubled, cash-starved Volkswagen (this country's largest enterprise), with its colossal current losses, 66 per cent, etc.

Moreover, West Germany operates on an amazingly small capital base and a disproportionate amount of even this small capital base comes from foreign countries.

Today more than 20 per cent of the industrial capital investment is from the United States, Great Britain, the Netherlands and Japan.

West Germany has called its famous boom the “Wirtschaftswunder” which suggests a miracle. The West Germans called the prosperity itself the “Wohlstand.” Gradually mesmerized by their own vocabulary, it gave birth to the “Fressele,” the eating craze; the “Reiswelle,” the travel craze; the “Gesundheitswelle,” the health craze; the “Ordenswelle,” the medal craze; the “Standesgemass,” which means in accord with status, and the “Geltungsbedürfnis,” the resulting need to assert oneself.

The West German central bank owned more U.S. dollars, normally convertible into gold, than there is gold in Fort Knox. But basking in the euphoria has quietly become as unreliable as a skid-row alcoholic.

The bloom is off the boom. Hardly revealed to us in the United States, West Germany is becoming a sick man in Europe.

Former Chancellor Willy Brandt, still a political power here, was always committed to the socialization of West Germany and gave it an enormous boost. He spoke of a “neue Stimmungswellen”—a “new national mood”—and blithely called his socialization “codetermination.”

Among other things, it involved subordinating share owners to the government and to labor. It involved control of the companies' executives with power to hire and fire them. It involved government-appointed supervisory boards, government-appointed directors, etc.

German labor has shattered its no-strike pattern, which was a powerful advantage in the boom. In 1970 West Germany had only 36 strikes, and 25,000 man-hours lost—the low record for any comparable free Western country. But in recent years manufacturers have had to raise prices 12 times to keep up with the rising wages and immense new fringe benefits.

For example, personnel costs are today 70 per cent of a West German hospital's expenses. Medical costs have risen throughout Western Europe but nowhere near that of West Germany.

The Bonn government has steadily broadened health insurance: hospital costs are up from $1 billion annually in 1960 to $6.3 billion last year. In fact, carrying over from the boom's “Gesundheitswelle,” or health craze, a joke now sweeping Germany says that soon the average German will be so healthy he'll starve to death because the medical insurance payments keep him broke.

Today the average hospital stay is 17.1 days. This is twice that in the United States. The Ministry of Health estimates that eliminating only one day off the 17.1-day average would save $400 million a year.

What West Germany's socialization has really meant is a government and labor control of the main enterprise in a takeover at the management level and yet without appearing to seize the property.

Why seize the farmer's cow, with all the complications there are in that, when, instead, you can let the farmer keep the cow and you seize the milk?

West Germany's economic growth has now slowed down to almost a standstill. The socialism released the geni from the bottle and now West Germany cannot control it. We know that in recent years at least $15 billion in Italian capital has fled turbulent Italy. What we do not know is that, behind the scenes, West German venture capital is fleeing West Germany.

Voice of the people

Deplores imposter

Please let it be known that an unscrupulous imposter made three phone calls to the State's Attorney's office, Judge Bales' office, and Judge Hill's office seeking information and using my name.

My sincere thanks and deepest gratitude to Judge Bales, a man who has known me since teen-age and knew that . . . that doesn't sound like anything Betty Frost would do; a very busy man who took the time to check it out and make me aware of what was happening in my name.

My congratulations to the State's Attorney's secretary who faced the worst of the phone caller's tirades, and handled it so eloquently, and my thanks to Judge Hill for his kindness and understanding of my outrage at someone using my name.

Let those who read this beware. Someone may be using your name. When you receive a phone call, make sure it is the person they claim to be.

Respectfully yours,
Betty Frost

Grateful thoughts

The last few days, after being trapped in a silo and overcome by deadly silo gas, many thoughts have passed through my mind.

Mostly they are “ifs.” What if this or what if that.

Well, I never have to elaborate in my mind too long to know what the consequences might have been. I thank God for sparing my life and I am very thankful for my family and neighbors for their quick thinking under such conditions where only seconds counted.

Another thought that comes to my attention is how fortunate we are in our community to have the Dixon Rural Fire Department, the emergency Rescue Squad and the Lee County Sheriff's Department.

My wife said she called and immediately they responded. They didn't know what equipment the occasion might call for, but as I have been told, they brought the “works.”

I'm sure I was like many of you taking the departments for granted, but now I am ever so grateful to think that we have the services in our community.

Sincerely,
Raymond Pyse

Take it from Here

REFLECTIONS— Perhaps it's like seeking the proverbial “pot of gold at the end of the rainbow,” but one boonful help out of the oil crisis would be the discovery of unknown oil deposits which are in plentiful supply and can easily be extracted.

Research which some scientists have been conducting for many years which went unnoticed has suddenly attracted attention with the onset of the energy crisis.

One such pursuit has been the search for certain kinds of fossils named conodonts which literally means “cone-shaped teeth.”

Discovered in 1856, conodonts are rock-like remnants of some unidentified creatures which were first called fish teeth.

Geologists have found them all over the world but no one has determined whether they come from a plant or an animal.

What is known about the being which the conodonts are remnants of is that they lived in the ocean and at one time were abundant. Some of the creatures lived more than 500 million years ago.

Certain types of conodonts are found near oil deposits and can be used to evaluate prospects during drilling for oil.

Dr. Gilbert Klapper, a conodont scholar at the University of Iowa, notes the fossils have been attributed to almost everything which inhabits the oceans.

He suspects the creature leaving the conodont is related to fish but shaped like an over-blown worm, has the consistency of a jellyfish and the feeding habits of a small snail.

Dr. Klapper's description fits a group of primitive marine animals with back bones known as tunicates.

Not much is known about them. Other geologists have long been collecting rocks to discover the location of ancient seas and shore lines.

The importance of this search to modern day problems is that almost all petroleum deposit are found near marine or quatic environments.

Oil deposits apparently began as infinitesimal droplets from bodies of microscopic plants and animals which lived in ancient aquatic environments.

Dr. Philip Heckel, a geologist at the University of Iowa, who is concerned with studying locations of ancient inland seas explains, “When these microorganisms died, they normally drifted to the bottom and decayed, destroying the oil. However, if the bottom water was stagnant and without the oxygen required for decay, then the oil droplets accumulated, building up; massive deposits of oil that became trapped in sedimentary rock.”

Oil in shale or other rock is hard to recover, but Dr. Heckel says if the oil pools in underground reservoirs, it is much easier to pump out of the ground. Pressure of overlying rock forces oil to flow into underground pools.

This is why geologists have long been interested in trying to figure out where long lost shore lines and river bottoms are located because old buried porous reefs or sandstone are ideal underground reservoirs of oil.

Probably, neither conodonts nor rocks from ancient seas and shore lines will discover a bonanza of unknown deposits of oil, but, then, one never knows.

Gratuitous vs. violence

A psychologist makes a useful distinction between the types of violence that seem to be so necessary to induce people to go to the movies nowadays.

On the one hand is the gratuitous, antisocial violence in films like “Rollerball” and “Magnum Force” in which people are encouraged to get their kicks watching other people being maimed, beaten, tortured and otherwise hurt.

But the violence in such films as “Earthquake,” “The Towering Inferno” and “Jaws,” although quite explicit, is natural violence, says Dr. Victor B. Kline of the University of Utah.

The total impact of this kind of violence is positive, he says, because it shows ordinary people coming together to overcome some terrible obstacle or danger. It also satisfied “a natural yearning in everyone to experience great emotional adventure without taking any risks.”

By TOM TIEDE

WASHINGTON (NEA)— While speaking to marine veterans of Guadalcanal during World War II, Eleanor Roosevelt was pelted with coins from an audience not really in the mood for platitudes or deference. Afterwards, the shaken Mrs. Roosevelt wondered aloud whether men subjected so long to war should not—even as the combat K-9's—be given some kind of training to help them readjust to the idea of nonviolent behavior.

The idea, lofty and altogether too idealistic, was rejected. Too bad. We are still learning of soldiers who, without aid, are sometimes tragically unable to readjust to peace. Today we call it the post-Vietnam Syndrome, and the jails, mental wards, bars and unemployment lines are peopled by our “boys” who can't cope.

William McFarland Jr. is one of them. His case has come to the attention of Dr. William Corson, a former marine colonel now coordinating a Vietnam veterans study program for Penthouse magazine. Forget the Penthouse reputation; Corson's program is a sober, if lonely, contribution to a vital matter. And McFarland is a ripe example of the screaming need for some light on the subject.

This then is Bill McFarland's story. It is not uplifting reading.

In 1965, the day after he learned of the death of a friend in Vietnam, McFarland, then 17 years old, enlisted in the army. He went to infantry school, airborne school, canine school, jungle advanced training and did graduate work in hand-to-hand combat.

He learned to kill in a variety of specialized ways.

When he turned 18, in 1966, he was sent to the First Infantry Division in Vietnam, then one of the most action-prone units in the war. The first dead man he saw was an American mutilated by the Viet Cong, “with his genitals sewn in his mouth.” After that the sight of the dead became routine.

His sergeant died. His best pal was blown away. McFarland began smoking grass, boozing rotgut, and sniffing dope. Eventually he too was hit, in the legs, and after several months, six medals, and permanent disabilities, was sent home.

The absence of war, however, did not bring peace to McFarland. He claims the pain-killing agents given him while hospitalized were addicting. Also, he could not forget Vietnam (among those he killed, he says, were young children). He suffered blackouts, nightmares; he tried to kill himself. Six months after his discharge the veteran, just 19 years old, was judicially declared mentally incompetent.

A few years later, McFarland got into a squabble with a man on a California street. The man was killed. Bill McFarland was found guilty, given a sentence of five years to life and sent to prison.

Where he still is today. Should he be? Decidedly not.

Without passing distant judgment on the crime for which he was jailed, the case seems at least to be unfinished business. McFarland claims he was not competent to take part in his trial and did not assist his public defender. It was only after his guilt was established, as example, that McFarland, under clinical drugs, revealed his side of the story: That the victim had started the fight by pulling a gun, that McFarland went into a blind rage and that self-defense and mental instability were direct factors.

Beyond this there are professional opinions that, crime or no crime, McFarland is an emotional cripple, more in need of hospital than penal confinement. Dr. Bill Barkley, a staff psychologist for the California Department of Corrections, says flatly that clinical examinations of McFarland indicate: “His crime of murder is directly related to the fact he was a trained killer and also a heavy drug user.” Barkley suggests, and logic agrees, the veteran be paroled to a Veterans Administration hospital where he can receive long needed care.

To be sure, McFarland has asked for the parole, but to no good end. Letters to federal and state authorities, including a governor and President, have resulted only in regrets. Meanwhile, this sad former soldier wastes away. Post-Vietnam Syndrome? It's more like a Post-Vietnam trap; everybody got him in, but nobody lets him out.

Putting on the dog

Canines are in the news, which seems appropriate since we are now in the midst of what are called the “dog days.” More accurately, a couple of recent stories concern the owners of dogs and what is being done to curb the environmental impact of their permissive attitudes toward their pets.

Item: From Shaker Heights, Ohio, it is reported that a gentleman there has invented something called a Dog Potty for good-neighbor dog-walkers. It's a plastic container on the end of a cane-shaped shaft.

To put a dog more at ease, the container is shaped like a miniature fire hydrant, and for the convenience of night-time dog-walkers, there's a flashlight attached to the handgrip.

The inventor, William L. Schmieler, says he got the idea a few years ago when a woman threw a rock at him for letting his dog make use of her lawn. Since then, Shaker Heights has passed an ordinance requiring dog owners to clean up after their pets.

Item: From France comes the news that the city of Paris is about to begin the construction of the world's first public flush toilets for dogs. Sanitation officials will soon begin installing the roofless, concrete structures, complete with flowers and perfume, at key locations throughout the city—evidently something like the famous relief stations for male human Parisians, which have largely disappeared.

According to the wire report, all a dog will have to do is sniff its way inside one of the “vespachiennes,” as they will be called, and let nature take its course. Then the owner will simply press a button and flush away what has been a controversial issue, as it has in many American cities.

Dare one hope that dog owners will eventually get the message that, although the world may perpetually be going to the dogs, it doesn't yet belong to them?

Beanpot bonanza

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Get the beanpot out. It's time to bake up an inexpensive and nutritional dish using baby lima beans, apples, brown sugar and molasses. The kitchen will be a beacon of mingled aromas alerting family and guests to this special treat for covered-dish or after-the-game suppers. If there are leftovers, serve them in a baked bean sandwich on dark rye or pumpernickel.

TANGY BAKED BEANS
1 pound dried baby lima beans
6 cups water
2 cups diced, peeled tart apples
1/2 cup chopped onions
3 tablespoons brown sugar
3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
3 tablespoons unsulphured molasses
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 pound salt pork

Wash beans; drain. Place in a large heavy saucepan. Add water. Bring to boiling point; reduce heat. Cover and simmer for 40 minutes or until skins pop. Drain beans, reserving liquid.

Place beans in a 2-quart bean pot or casserole. Combine 2 cups of the reserved liquid (add water to make 2 cups if necessary) with the apples, onions, sugar, Worcestershire sauce, molasses and salt. Stir into beans.

Score salt pork, making cuts one half inch apart and 1-inch deep. Bury in center of beans. Cover bean pot.
Bake in a preheated 325 degree oven for about 5 hours, stirring beans once or twice and adding boiling water if necessary. Makes 6 to 8 portions.

Notion that only gay guys are good dancers is ridiculous

Dear Ann Landers: I am convinced the American woman's obsession that men be good dancers is breeding the masculinity out of them.

Dancing is a woman's game. A truly masculine male was not meant to glide a woman gracefully across the dance floor. His center of gravity is different and he is likely to feel clumsy and awkward when he attempts to imitate the grace and rhythm that his partner expresses so naturally. This is why most manly men hate to dance.

Not so with the gay element. They are invariably marvelous dancers and have fooled a great many women. Some women have even married them because they are so beautiful and dance so well.

This trend will be reversed only when women get smart and stop falling for fairies who

"Tiptoe Through the Tulips." Wise them up, will you, Ann? — Orlando Observer

Dear O.O.: Wise THEM up? Dearie, you're the one who needs to be wised up. Such hogwash I haven't heard since I left Iowa.

Your notion that only gay guys are good dancers is ridiculous. I don't know who you've been dancing with in Orlando, but come to Chicago and I'll prove your theory is cockeyed.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 72, my husband is 73. We've had separate bedrooms for ten years, since Horace's snoring got so bad I couldn't stand it. He used to "visit" me occasionally, but hasn't done so for about six years — which is fine with me.

Last week a neighbor told

Horace about a drug for Parkinson's disease that awakens the sex drive in older men. He said a 70-year-old Parkinson's patient who hadn't had the urge for ten years took the medicine while hospitalized and began to chase the nurses down the corridors.

Horace has been nagging me for three days to write to you and ask if there is any truth to it. I hope you'll say NO. — No Signature, Of Course

Dear No Sig: The drug your neighbor heard about is called L-Dopa. The effects on that patient were "unusual." My medical consultants tell me L-Dopa cannot be obtained for use as an aphrodisiac. So I don't think you have anything to worry about, dear.

Dear Ann Landers: My wife is going through the change. She perspires a lot and is always complaining that it is too hot in the house. The woman never sits down. She is constantly on the run, up the stairs, down the stairs, cooking, cleaning, washing windows — it would make anybody perspire, change or no change.

When the kids or I tell her it's chilly in the house, she says, "Put on a sweater."

Do you think it's fair that we should have to wear sweaters on account of her condition? Is there any way we can ALL be comfortable? — Chilly Willy

Dear Chilly: There might be. Has your wife been to a doctor lately? In recent years some highly effective medication has been developed for menopausal women. If your wife hasn't looked into it, I suggest she do so at once.

Good declarer works magic

By Oswald & James Jacoby

One thing about a really good declarer is that he seems to come out of hopeless situations with his contract tucked away nicely.

West could have opened a club or diamond and given South his ninth trick, but West got off to a spade lead. South took his ace and promptly played the queen of diamonds. East discarded a low club and South saw that he could only be sure of three spades, three diamonds and one heart and one club. So he led a club to dummy's queen.

East took his ace and led back the jack of hearts. South won the trick and led a heart right back to dummy's nine and East's king. East led his last heart and West cashed the queen and eight.

A spade and club were discarded from dummy and East led a spade go.

The defense had four tricks in. If West had thought to lead his 10 of clubs, South's contract would have collapsed. But West made what he thought was the safe lead of a diamond.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE E-671: Ellen D., aged 22, invited me to conduct a Sunday evening meeting of young people at her church.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "we'd like to have you talk about love vs. sex."

"And tell us how to decide what is true love in contrast to infatuation."

"Also, why do some boys have such a worshipful attitude toward a girl, that they are content merely to hold her hand. Yet others bruise her lips with ravenous kisses and act almost as fierce as a rapist."

Types of Love

Love has many gradations. At its highest peak, you may get a lump in your throat and a tightening around your heart, as your eyes become misty with tears.

That's when you respond to nobility of soul, as in the self-sacrificing behavior of a person who lays down his life for another.

This emotional exaltation also may occur at the climax of a great play or novel or the peroration of a tremendous sermon.

As the musicians approach the finale of their concert, you may also experience this unique emotional state.

Sexual passion, ravenous kisses and other physical aspects of mere erotic desire aren't involved in this ethereal level of love.

It is felt at the climax of "The Sound of Music" or when the lovers before insane Nero in "The Robe," walked hand in hand to their sure death, rather than renounce Christ.

This idealistic type of love is more typical of teen-agers where a boy may almost worship his sweetheart, regarding her as angelic.

He is happy in her company and content to stroll, hand in hand, even without talking and often with no thought of kisses.

Parents may also feel this ethereal type of sexless love when they sit beside their dying child, who pathetically cries:

"Daddy (or Mommy), please help me! Make the pain stop!"

At the other extreme, we find what is mistakenly called love but is only sexual magnetism, as demonstrated by the rapist who attacks a strange woman, then even slits her throat or stabs her to death after the assault.

Sometimes a boy and girl who have grown up as neighbors and school classmates, develop a brother-sister type of affection but can't seem to generate the "spark" we call romantic love, with its desire for physical kisses and affection.

In such a case, the boy may shatter this "sister" halo by deliberately kissing the girl and prolonging the kiss for at least 10 seconds.

Then an erotic electrical charge will develop that shatters the former "sister" attitude and makes him regard her in a sweetheart category.

Girls, men seldom develop a "true love" attitude for more than one woman and that is usually attested to by his offer of a wedding ring!

Men can be physically infatuated by many women or indulge in sex with no fondness whatever for the girl or even degenerate into a rapist.

Ammon, (II Samuel, Ch. 13) became so smitten by his so-called love for the Princess Tamar that he took to his bed, love sick.

But after he had connived to assault her, his supposed love now became hate and he ordered her thrown out of his house!

3 charges against tax consultant for Nixon are dropped

CHICAGO (AP) — One of three charges against Ralph G. Newman in his alleged involvement of back-dating former President Richard M. Nixon's tax papers may be dropped by the special Watergate prosecutor's office according to a defense motion filed in federal court.

The motion filed Wednesday by Arnold H. Crane, Newman's lawyer, also contended the government offered not to seek another indictment if Newman would agree to be tried in Washington, D.C.

The motion said the government plans to consent to dismissal of one of the two charges in an indictment returned in February but "the special prosecutor refuses to divulge what count he intends to dismiss."

Newman, president of the Chicago Library Board, was indicted on charges of conspiring with former White House tax advisor Frank DeMarco Jr., to back-date a donation of Nixon's personal papers to the National Archives so that the former president could receive a tax break.

The defense motion claims the government brought a second indictment against Newman Aug. 14 because he successfully sought to have his case transferred from Washington to Chicago.

The government had opposed dismissal of the second indictment which charged Newman with one count of lying to Internal Revenue Service agents in Chicago in December 1973 when questioned about his activities in preparing the Nixon papers.

Crane contended the second indictment was "vindictive and intentional, discriminatory prosecution." He asked Judge Frank J. McGarr of U.S. District Court for a hearing to determine if the second indictment violated Newman's rights to due process and equal protection.

The motion said "the government offered . . . not to bring additional charges (the second indictment) if the defendants would agree to a joint trial and/or withdraw their transfer motions."

The Doctor Says:

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have what has been diagnosed as polycythemia. It leaves me very tired and short of breath. Could you explain this disorder and comment on its treatment?

DEAR READER—There are several kinds of polythemia. In all instances, though, it means an increase in the amount of red blood cells in your circulation.

People living at high altitude have one form of polycythemia caused by the low oxygen pressure. The body simply forms more red cells to compensate for less oxygen in the lungs. The amount of increase in red cells is related to the level of altitude. People living at 14,000 feet have quite an increase.

You can get a polycythemia response from lung disease. The chronic lung disease causes a low oxygen level in the lungs, and the body responds much like it does to altitude. This is the basis for saying a person with lung disease is already living at high altitude.

Both high altitude and lung disease cause "secondary polycythemia." I suspect you have polycythemia vera which is "primary polycythemia." No one knows what causes this. It is often associated with an increase in white blood cells, too. About two-thirds of the cases have an enlarged spleen.

It has been demonstrated that you can cause this in mice by infecting them with a particular virus. The mice develop the picture of increased amounts of red cells and an enlarged spleen. Showing that you can do this, though, does not prove that a virus causes polycythemia vera in humans. Just as an anemia can be caused from many different things (iron deficiency, bleeding, vitamin deficiencies to mention a few), it is reasonable that there may be other causes for polycythemia in man. No one has yet proved that any such case in man has been caused by a virus.

A lot of people with polycythemia vera have no symptoms at all. Others have symptoms including being tired and short of breath as you do. The systolic blood pressure may be elevated. The face may be ruddy because of the dilated capillaries. There may be from 7 to 10 million red cells in a milliliter when normally there should be only about 5 million.

One of the mainstays of treatment of this disorder is simply to draw off some of the blood. That usually lets the pressure go down if it is elevated. This is about the only condition in medicine today where it is still believed to be helpful to bleed a person. Bleeding was wrongly thought to be good treatment for many illnesses 200 years ago and is believed to have contributed to George Washington's death.

Sometime bleeding treatments have to be stopped, because the person may get too low on iron and have an iron deficiency. In these cases it may be necessary to give various chemicals that depress the bone marrow's over production of red cells. There are a number of these medicines available.

Finally in older patients, it is sometimes a good choice to use radioactive phosphorus. This substance slows down the bone marrow considerably and often relieves the problem for a relatively long period of time.

Comets claim Oregon Invitational

By MIKE CUNIFF
Telegraph Sports Editor
OREGON—The Newman Comets got five winning performances, including a record-breaking effort from sophomore Franco Alvarez, at the Woodhaven three-mile course, here, Thursday to capture the Oregon Invitational cross-country meet.

Alvarez crossed the hilly terrain in 16:39.8 to barely better the previous record of 16:40 set by Randy Taylor of Mt. Morris in 1974. The Alvarez finish was one of a quintet of firsts by the Comets.

The Invitational was set up with seven harriers competing from each school entered. While a regular cross-country race is conducted by places, the Oregon Invitational divided the competition into groups.

Thus, the number one man from a school ran against each of the number one harriers from the remaining schools. The fastest man in each group was given one point, the second fastest two, and so forth. Therefore, a perfect score would be seven if each one of a school's seven harriers managed to win his race.

Newman easily walked off with the championship team hardware by compiling 11 points via five champions and a pair of third-place finishers. Mt. Morris took second with 22 points, with Oregon and Winnebago tying for third with 24 each.

Ashton grabbed fifth with 32 points, with Forrester's 34 rounding out the field. Other Comets taking races were number three man Mark Arseneau in 17:21, number four Steve Lauff (17:46), number five Rich Wilkin (18:19) and seventh man Steve Burke in 19:07.

Nick Cruz was third (17:16) as second man and Mike Scudder (19:09.5) likewise in the sixth man competition. Cruz ended behind Doug Drogemuller (17:05) of Winnebago and K. C. LeVan (17:13) of Mt. Morris.

Scudder entered the chute trailing Oregon's John Mershon (19:00) and Ashton's Gary Kofoid (19:06). The meet was conducted in a trio of heats. The number five, six and seven entrants went first, followed by the three and four, plus one and two harriers.

Newman held the advantage from the initial race, based on the top spots garnered by Burke and Wilkin along with Scudder's third. The Comets ended with five points after the first round while Oregon had seven, Forrester's Cardinals 12, along with 13 apiece by Mt. Morris, Ashton and Winnebago.

The number one finishes by Arseneau and Lauff in the second round lengthened Newman's advantage. Mt. Morris got seconds from Neil Anderson (18:00) in the number four slot and Dave Deaconson (17:56) in number three, to drop 10 points behind with a 17 total.

Oregon's Hawks remained second to the Comets with a 14 score. Winnebago had 21, Ashton's Aces 22 and Forrester 24. Alvarez's first and the third by Cruz wrapped up the Newman triumph. Mt. Morris ascended to second place on the second by LeVar and a third (17:01) by Dave Miller.

Winnebago picked up seven points to deadlock Oregon for third. Winnebago got the first from Drogemuller and a second (16:53) by Greg Barker at number one. Oregon, Ashton and Forrester each accumulated 10 points in the third round.

Individually, in the number one spot, Alvarez's 16:39.8 was the top performance, followed by Barker's 16:53 and Miller's 17:01. Steve Denekas of Forrester ended fourth in 17:37.5, Oregon's Luke Schier fifth (18:07) and John Martinez of the Aces sixth (20:24).

Drogemuller captured the number two heat in 17:05, followed by LeVar's 17:13, Cruz's 17:16, Tom Krause of Ashton (18:41), Dave Buhs of Oregon (18:41) and Forrester's Pet Williams (19:09).

At number three was Arse neau in 17:21. Dave Deaconson of Mt. Morris claimed second (17:56), Larson of Winnebago third (18:01), Oregon's Larry Kereven fourth (18:57), Ed Baylor of Ashton fifth (19:05) and Forrester's Brian Brown sixth (20:26).

Lauff took the number four spot (17:46), with Anderson (18:00) next, Oregon's Marv Holloway third (18:21.5), Ashton's Dean Dvorak fourth (19:00), Winnebago's Stauffer fifth (19:21) and Merrill Kaney of Forrester sixth (19:22).

At number five, Wilkin's 18:19 was tops, with Steve Reid of Oregon second (19:30), Gary Bronkema of Forrester third (20:06), Winnebago's Steve Langley fourth (20:41), Rick Fane of Ashton fifth (20:55) and Dom Amoravian of Mt. Morris sixth (21:04).

Mershon won at number six (19:00), followed by Kofoid (19:06), Scudder (19:09.5), Karl Gray of Winnebago (19:18), Charlie Costilla of Mt. Morris (19:22) and Forrester's Jim Ontjes (22:50).

Burke took number seven (19:07), with Dan Reckmeyer of Mt. Morris second (19:14), Forrester's Jeff Funk third (19:28) and Dave Bocker of Oregon fourth (20:24). Jeff Burgholt of Winnebago (21:05) and Ashton's Mick Townsend (23:33) completed the field.

Starr maintains a positive outlook

GREEN BAY, WIS. — Bart Starr, a man of admirable candor, would be the first to admit a four-game losing streak is hardly a confidence-builder.

But, ever an exponent of the positive approach, he is convinced that this closest to 1975's pre-season will have no untoward effect upon his Packers heading into Sunday afternoon's National Football League opener with the Detroit Lions at Milwaukee County Stadium.

And his players echo that conviction. Looking ahead to Sunday's contest, which will launch the Packers' 56th NFL season, Starr declared, "We think our chances are good. We never give a thought to losing any game we go into. And we don't want any negative thinkers around."

"We realize that we have a number of areas to shore up. We also feel we have the people to do that."

Middle linebacker Jim Carter, the Packers' defensive captain in 1974, put it another way.

"We have to get down to where we really believe in what we're doing — even if we have to play two defenses and use four basic plays," he said. "I think everybody on the team believes in coach Starr and his staff. We've just got to get to a point where we believe in what we're doing, and that's the way we'll win."

"I was talking with Jerry Kramer here the other day about this kind of thing and he said believing in themselves was what made the Packers teams he played on in the '60s so successful."

"Jerry said, 'everybody said we dominated the NFL in those days, but we actually didn't have any better talent than anyone else, or as good as some teams had, but we just believed we were better than everybody else.'"

"And that's what we've got to do," Carter said. "We've got to believe we're better than everybody else and go out and prove it."

Guard Pat Matson, acquired only last week, expressed confidence in the Packers' imminent emergency as a quality team, asserting, "I think we have the personnel here to do a very fine job in our division."

Matson and his colleagues will begin zeroing in on that objective against the Lions, the Packers' opening day opponents for the first time since 1970. Needless to say, they are hopeful of a more acceptable result than the one which ensued on that occasion, marred by a 40-0 Detroit victory in Green Bay's Lambeau Field.

Three years earlier, the Packers and Lions had struggled to a 17-17 tie in their 1967 inaugural on the same turf, a contest which launched the late Vince Lombardi's ninth and last season as Green Bay's head coach.

Rivals since 1934, they met in an opener for the first time in 1941, the Packers claiming a 23-0 decision. Their paths did not cross again on opening day until 1950, when the Lions blighted the late Gene Ronzani's coaching bow, 45-7.

Sunday's antagonists have been paired in only three other season bapisms, the Packers winning 20-17 in 1955 and the Lions claiming 20-16 and 17-13 decisions in 1956 and 1961, respectively.

If there is a psychological edge, it could lie with the Lions, who move into the new season on a victorious note, having charged from behind to shade Cleveland in their exhibition finale (27-24), while the Packers were falling to the 49ers (24-3).

But Starr's faith in his team remains unshaken. "We have some very, very prideful people," he said. "We'll be ready next Sunday."

In Oakland rather than Chicago

Jim Todd has it easier

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

Life is much easier in Oakland than it is in Chicago. Just ask Jim Todd.

"I was really dragging after the eighth inning," said the Oakland A's pitcher. "I needed help."

Todd got the help and the A's picked up another victory, clipping the Chicago White Sox 7-6. The victory reduced the A's magic number to three with any combination of three victories or three Kansas City losses giving the three-time World Champions the American League's Western Division title.

In other AL games Thursday, Kansas City edged Minnesota 4-3, Cleveland nipped Detroit 2-1 and California topped Texas 5-3.

Todd split last season with Wichita of the American Association and the National League's Chicago Cubs where he posted a 4-2 record with an earned run average of 3.89.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
The Pittsburgh Pirates were only the Pittsburgh Pussycats to Steve Carlton.

"I wish he had hung a few curve balls instead of those snap dragons he was throwing," said Willie Stargell after the Philadelphia left-hander tamed his hot-hitting Pirates 4-1 with a four-hitter Thursday night.

The Pirates, who have been hitting like there's no tomorrow, were just putty in the hands of Carlton at Veterans Stadium.

"He got us out in key situations," said Stargell. "He had a good breaking ball and a slider on occasion. He threw the heat (fastball) to spots. He was real sharp tonight."

Carlton won the game under pressure conditions, for a loss would have killed any flickering hopes the Phillies might have had to catch the Pirates in the National League East.

As it is, it still may take a miracle. The Phillies pulled within six games of the Pirates, whose magic number for clinching the division remained at five.

In the other National League games, the Montreal Expos beat the St. Louis Cardinals 5-0, the New York Mets defeated the Chicago Cubs 7-5 and the Cincinnati Reds trimmed the Atlanta Braves 4-3.

Home runs by Mike Schmidt and Greg Luzinski backed Carlton's superb pitching. Carlton raised his record to 14-13 by taming the Pirates, striking out 11 and walking five.

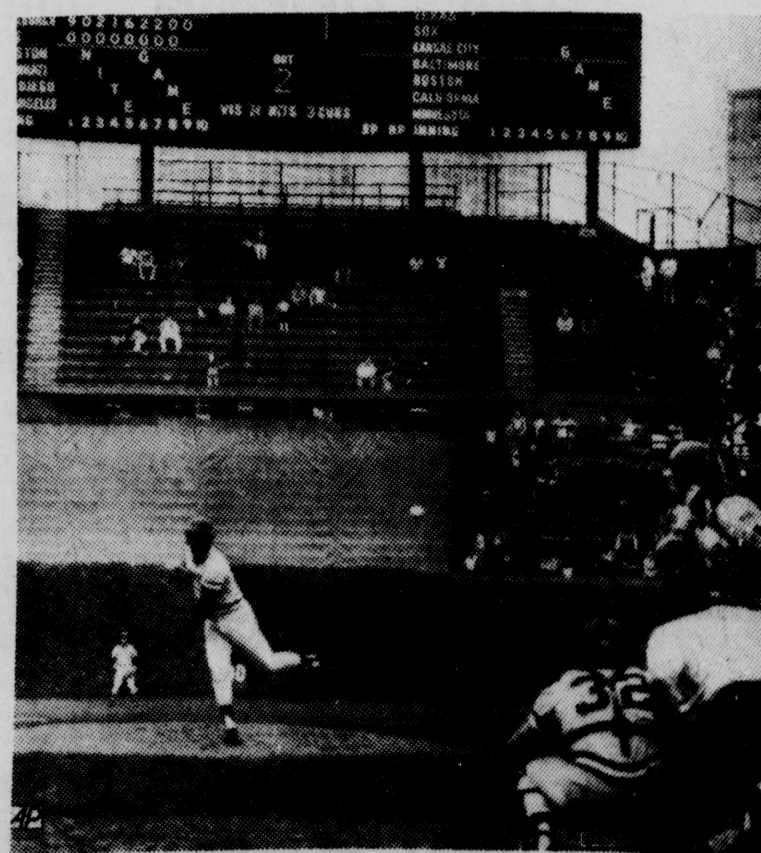

The Pirates' Rennie Stennett, incidentally, continued to break records with his bat. He collected two hits Thursday night to tie the National League mark of 12 hits in three games, held by three other players. Previously, he belted seven hits in one game for a record and three more in another for a two-game mark of 10.

Expos 5, Cardinals 0
Jim Dwyer singled, doubled and tripled while Gary Carter and Pete Mackanin pounded home runs to lead Montreal over St. Louis. The Expos, completing a two-game sweep, made the most of seven hits off Cardinal right-hander Ron Reed, 12-12, who departed after six innings, and Harry Parker, who was greeted by Mackanin's solo homer in the seventh.

Mets 7, Cubs 5
Dave Kingman's club-record 35th home run of the season, a two-run shot in the bottom of the ninth inning, lifted New York past Chicago. The Mets, who spotted the Cubs a four-run lead in the first, tied up the game in the eighth when Kingman doubled and came home on Jesus Alou's pinch-hit single, and Joe Torre tripled home pinch-runner Bud Harrelson.

Rusty Staub hit his 18th homer of the season, a two-run shot in the fifth, for the first two Mets runs. Staub singled in the ninth before Kingman launched his game-winning blast and topped the team record of 34 homers set by Frank Thomas in 1962.

Reds 4, Braves 3
Bill Plummer's run-scoring single in the 10th inning carried Cincinnati over Atlanta. Pete Rose walked and eventually scored the winning run on base hits by Tony Perez and Plummer.

WINDING UP—Scoreboard tells the story as Pittsburgh Pirates pitcher Ken Brett delivers pitch to final Cub batter in Chicago. Cubs Pete LaCock grounded out for the final out. The Pirates pulverized the Cubs 22-0 as the Cubs were held to three hits. It is the largest margin in a shut-out victory in the major leagues. (AP Wirephoto)

Dukes are hoping for some firsts

Dixon to tangle with Rochelle

By MIKE CUNIFF
Telegraph Sports Editor

The Dixon Dukes varsity football squad will be looking for a couple of firsts this season, at 8 p.m. today at A.C. Bowers Field, when the Purple and White tangle with the Rochelle Hubs in a non-conference contest.

Dixon has been blanked eight consecutive quarters in the past two campaigns by Rochelle, so a score would break the shutout streak. Also, the Dukes would like to notch win number one of the campaign after two successive losses.

Applebaum and Colbert

Sam Applebaum, Dixon head varsity coach, and Joel Colbert, his counterpart for Rochelle, have slightly different philosophies for tonight's game. Thursday Applebaum stated, "We want to try to contain the ball more and make sure we run the ball on them," while Colbert commented, "I really don't know what we will do. It will just depend on what Dixon does."

Colbert's Hubs are 1-1 in non-conference action, dropping a 14-7 decision to Wheaton Warrenville the first week, before beating Sycamore 21-7 last Friday. The only touchdown versus Wheaton was notched by Mark Papke on a 46-yard fumble return. Jay Kissack booted the extra point.

Against Sycamore, Rochelle got touchdowns from a 42-yard Dale Rand pass to Richard Erickson, a two-yard dash by San Ciccio and a 68-yard scamper on an option play by Rand. Kissack was three-for-three in place-kicks.

Hubs Have Accumulated

The Hubs have accumulated 427 yards total in the pair of contests, with 315 on the ground and 112 through the air. Rochelle had 163 yards versus Wheaton (113 rushing and 50 passing) plus 264 against Sycamore (202 and 62).

Rand threw 17 times versus Wheaton and completed five and was three of eight last week against Sycamore for an overall total of eight out of 25. The 6'0"-160 quarterback also added 70 yards rushing versus Sycamore, while Jim Babb racked up 41 yards on eight carries and Ciccio added 37 yards in 13 attempts.

Defensively, the Hubs have allowed 349 yards overall with 211 rushing and 138 passing. Wheaton managed 134 yards rushing and 109 through the air while Sycamore had figures of 77 and 29, respectively.

Rochelle Has Given

Rochelle has given up 20 pass completions in 36 tosses, with 13 of 25 versus Wheaton and 7 out of 11 against Sycamore. The Hubs picked off three Wheaton passes.

Offensively, Colbert lists a starting lineup of Erickson and Mike Simon (6'0"-150) alternating at tight end and Andy Colbert (5'10"-150) drawing the other receiving position. The tackles will be 6'0"-195 Larry Putzstuck and 6'0"-205 Todd Smith.

Ken Krahenbuhl (5'10"-175) and Chuck Cawley (5'9"-175) will be the guards, with 5'10"-160 Dan Johnson snapping the ball. Rand will call signals backed up by Babb (5'11"-180) and Dave Wyatt (5'11"-170) at halfbacks and Ciccio (5'10"-170) at fullback.

On the Defense

On defense, Smith and Cawley will be the ends, with Jon Kettleson (5'9"-170) and Putzstuck the tackles. Babb, Ciccio and Mark Miller (5'11"-165) will be the linebackers. Erickson will be on the corner with Wyatt, Kim Huntley (5'10"-140) and Dan Dougherty (5'9"-145) deep.

Applebaum lists only one possible change, with Gordie Wooten pushing Gary Magnafici for a defensive half-back position. Wooten picked off a pair of passes in a junior varsity game on Monday, returning one theft for a 63-yard touchdown.

The pass defense is one area that needs some shoring up after St. Bede's Jim Corpus rattled the secondary for 259 yards on a dozen of 15 attempts last week. Overall, the Dukes have given up 665 yards in the two games.

Of the Total

Of the total, 400 yards have been rushing, with 265 via the air. DeKalb ground out 297 yards, while St. Bede got 103. DeKalb was limited to six yards passing but St. Bede got the 259. The enemy quarterbacks have been successful on 13 of 18 throws.

Dixon, meanwhile, has completed seven of 25 for 65 yards. The Dukes have pounded out 296 yards rushing for a net offensive gain of 361. Senior half-back Mike LeBlanc paces the rushers with 157 yards in 31 attempts (5.0 average). Last year, at this time, LeBlanc had seven carries for 59 yards.

He was limited to 15 yards on a pair of rushes against Rochelle. Mike McDonald picked up 64 yards in 13 attempts last week in his first extensive varsity workout. The Dixon sophomores will also be seeking their first win of the season in the 6 p.m. contest which begins the evening.

Another $300,000 for unproven test

By WILLIAM C. WERTZ
Associated Press Writer
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — State education officials bet another $300,000 this week that a new test for children won't turn out to be worthless.

The new wager means that some $1.3 million of the taxpayers' money is riding on the success or failure of a Chicago firm, Computer Psychometric Associates, Inc., which has been trying since 1972 to develop a computer-graded test to identify children with learning disabilities.

If CPA succeeds in proving that its new test works properly and can sell enough of them to schools throughout the nation, the state will get its money back.

Failure means the taxpayers get nothing for their investment.

Officials won't know until sometime in November whether they've won or lost, said Dr. Nelson Ashline, deputy superintendent of education.

CPA was paid $299,000 this week for satisfying the terms of its 1975 contract with the state.

According to Ashline, this contract did not require CPA to produce an effective and reliable test, but merely to carry out, in effect, a test of the test to see if it would work.

Dr. Arthur P. Colabarci, dean of the School of Education at Stanford University, was hired as a special consultant to make sure that this was done, Ashline said.

Illinois Focus

For the next several weeks, he said, Colabarci and other consultants will evaluate the results and decide once and for all whether the CPA test works.

The state's contract with CPA calls for Illinois to recover its total investment in the project through a 5 per cent royalty on CPA's gross sales.

Illinois paid CPA $242,640 in 1972, $361,000 in 1973 and $420,000 in 1974 for development of the test, although officials in the Office of Education said they were never enthusiastic about the project and never included it in their budget.

They said the project had been pushed through the legislature by Rep. Thomas J. Hanahan, D-McHenry, and others despite studies from some experts contending the state should never have become involved in subsidizing the research efforts of a private firm.

Early this year, Dr. Joseph Cronin, an appointed superintendent, replaced Michael J. Bakalis, the last elected official to head the state office of education. Cronin decided to spend only $299,000 of a $611,000 appropriation from the General Assembly for Project Screen in 1975.

Cronin said this expenditure would give CPA a chance to complete its test development and give the state a chance of getting some of its investment back.

Political squabble leaves county with 2 recorders

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — County Recorder Dorothy Craig went to work one day this week to find another county recorder in her office giving orders to her staff.

But the second recorder, named Wesley Hardin, said he also worked for Rock Island County and showed up Thursday to take over Mrs. Craig's job.

Lawyers for the two also were at the courthouse, and indications are a court of law will have to decide which county recorder is the official official.

Mrs. Craig has been recorder since July, when the Rock Island County Board of Supervisors appointed her successor to her late husband, Richard.

But an attorney general's ruling says the board had no authority to appoint a replacement. According to the attorney general, a recent Illinois law provides that such appointments be made by the county Democratic Central Committee. In turn, the committee appointed Hardin. Hardin and his lawyer say Hardin has a commission appointing him to the post while Mrs. Craig does not.

Meanwhile Mrs. Craig and her lawyer say no commission is required. Mrs. Craig says she will stay on the job unless a judge orders her to leave.

Skinner was ticketed by Lee County Sheriff's Deputies for driving too fast for conditions.

The Biter

Few people have escaped the bite of this little creature. Unfortunately, an itchy welt is not the only peril of this insect's bite. Some species of the tiny pest have been blamed for the current encephalitis epidemic in several states. Symptoms of encephalitis — which also is known as sleeping sickness — include neck stiffness, drowsiness, fever, headache, and difficulty with coordination. This member of the fly family received little attention until 1899, when researchers discovered that some species could carry malaria to humans. In most species of the insect only the female bites. Females cannot produce fertile eggs without feeding first on blood. The males feed on pollen and nectar.

The Bentons are: the Rev. Dean Benton, Carole Benton, and Joyce Kulp. The Bentons are native Iowans, but claim Mokena as home. The Rev. Mr. Benton pastored the United Methodist Church in Mokena before entering gospel music full-time.

The trio began singing together in August of 1970. Since that time, they have appeared in hundreds of concerts in over 25 denominations. They have sung in well over half of the United States, and Ontario, Canada.

The Bentons use orchestration from their four albums. During concerts, Carole plays the piano, and Joyce plays the bass as well as sing. The three are said to have one of the best blends in gospel music today.

The Rev. Mr. Benton pastored for over 13 years. He has seven years' experience as radio DJ in country and gospel music. He is a graduate of Open Bible College, Upper Iowa College, and Evangelical Theological Seminary.

Carole attended Open Bible College. She does most of the group's arranging. She and the Rev. Mr. Benton have two children who travel with the trio.

Joyce and Carole are sisters. Joyce graduated from Open Bible College and worked for a couple of years with Teen Challenge.

The concerts are a mix of contemporary gospel songs, old hymns, and current inspirational songs.

Jubilee Quartet plan concert in Dixon

The Jubilee Quartet, a full time singing group with its headquarters in Topeka, Kan., will appear in concert at the Dixon Church of the Nazarene, Jefferson Ave. and Graham St., Wednesday at 7 p.m., according to the Rev. Robert Hale.

The group was organized and has traveled nearly in all of the 50 states, presenting its variety of hymns, gospel songs, and spirituals.

Whitey Gleason is manager of the group and plays the piano, sings baritone and does all the vocal arrangements for the quartet. Whitey has composed over 300 gospel songs, hymns and spirituals including such national favorites as "Where Will You Be?", "Walk, Talk, and Sing," and "At the Altar." From 1963 to 1966 Whitey was pianist for the Blackwood Brothers Quartet of R.C.A. recording fame.

The quartet has been acclaimed as Mid-America's Number One Quartet. The unique keyboard arrangements of "Mister Gospel Piano" and the rich vocal blend of the quartet will fully meet your expectations.

Sunday, is Mission Fest Sunday in the Forreston Reformed Church. Dr. John Hesselink Jr., president of Western Theological Seminary will speak during Sunday School at 9:30 a.m., and in the worship service at 10:30 a.m.

Dr. Hesselink was born in Grand Rapids, Mich., the eldest son of the Rev. Ira J. Hesselink, and Mrs. Anna (Mulder) Hesselink. He made confession of faith in the Ebenezer Reformed Church in Leighton, Iowa, where his father served as minister. After graduating from Pella High School (Iowa) in 1946, he entered Central College in Pella from which he graduated magna cum laude in 1950.

Fall revival to be launched by Baptists

The North Side Baptist Church, one mile west of Dixon on the Dixon-Sterling Freeway, will launch their fall revival Sunday morning at 10:40 a.m.

The Rev. Ray Maragni, West Frankfort, will be the guest evangelist. The Rev. Maragni, a dynamic speaker, brings the message of God relevant to the new generation.

The Rev. Ralph Allmon, pastor, urges the people to come as families to the worship service. Bible study on Sunday will be held at 9:30 a.m.

He began his theological education at New Brunswick Seminary (New Jersey) in 1950, and graduated from Western Seminary in 1953, being the recipient of academic and other honors at both seminaries.

In 1951, he married Etta Ter Louw, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John S. Ter Louw. In May, 1953, he was ordained to the ministry of the Reformed Church in America and the following month he and his wife were commissioned as missionaries of the Reformed Church. After a brief period of orientation, they sailed for Japan in August of the same year with their nine month old son.

The Hesselinks served as missionaries in Japan for 20 years, spending most of their first term in student evangelism on the island of Kyuchu, in cooperation with the United Church of Christ in Japan. Dr. Hesselink was also the assistant manager of the Albertus Pieters Evangelistic Center. In 1961, Dr. Hesselink was invited to join the faculty of Tokyo Union Theological Seminary, where he taught historical theology and ecclesiastical Latin until his resignation in the spring of 1973. He has also lectured at Meiji Gakuin University and the Seminary of the Reformed-Presbyterian Church in Japan. He uses Japanese, German, and English, and his writings have appeared in books and magazines on four continents.

Dr. Hesselink first did graduate study with Dr. Emil Brunner, at the International Christian University in Japan from 1953 until 1955. During his first furlough, he continued his graduate work at Basel University in Switzerland under the direction of Dr. Karl Barth. In the fall of 1960, Dr. Hesselink mediated in an historic reconciliation between Dr. Bruner and Dr. Barth, who had been longtime rivals. After completing his doctoral dissertation on "Calvin's Concept and Use of the Law," Dr. Hesselink received the Doctor of Theology degree, magna cum laude, in June, 1961.

During his next furlough (1966-67), he was a visiting professor in theology and missions at Western Seminary. In 1971-72, he was a post-doctoral scholar at the University of Chicago Divinity School. After

LET FAITH PUT REAL MEANING INTO YOUR LIFE

Religion lets you know your life is worth the span of years you'll dwell upon this earth. It teaches you the proper way to live, And demonstrates a finer way to give; By turning you from selfishness and greed To real concern for someone else's need. You'll learn that joy in simple things is found, And beauty in God's wonders all around; And then, if you will go to Church and pray For guidance you can follow day by day; You'll know, before your life on earth is done, You gave your very best for everyone.

— Gloria Nowak

"Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man." — Ecclesiastes 12:13

Nothing in life is more wonderful than faith—the one great moving force which we can neither weigh in the balance nor test in the crucible. — Sir William Osler

WHERE THE ACTION IS!

The advertising sales staff is the cutting edge of a healthy, vigorous newspaper. It's where the action is.
As a career, newspaper selling offers a number of special satisfactions.
The newspaper is an important place to work. Without advertising support, a newspaper could not exist as a free and independent institution.
The job is seldom routine. An advertising representative gets out of the office daily into the demanding world of sales and marketing.
Ideas count. The newspaper representative is not an order taker, but is a professional consultant whose creative input can make or break a business.
The newspaper changes each day. And each day brings new challenges and opportunities.

HOW ABOUT YOU?

Interested in a career as a newspaper advertising professional? We have a position now open in our Display Advertising Department for the right individual. Is that individual YOU? If you think so, then don't delay... give us a call and make an appointment for your personal interview. Ask for Tom Shaw.

Midwest's largest antique mail order dealer buying complete estates or antique collections for CASH. D. Phone 652-4278.

QUESTION & ANSWER PERIOD

QUESTION — Mr. Shiaras, was that your picture we saw in The Antique Trader standing by your steins? I had a different mental picture of what you looked like and I want to know for sure that was you. I will reserve my impressions of what you look like to myself.

ANSWER — Yes, that was Mr. D. under the keig lights of The Antique Trader. I hope my lantern jaw and the one eye situated in the center of my head didn't take you aback. I know they don't photograph well. Ha!

QUESTION — Mr. Shiaras, I know you have handled many Mettlich steins in the past but which of the many impressed you the most?

ANSWER — I would say the 4-liter Black Forest sent a thrill down to my tootsies. The all-over glazed forest with tiny rooftops peeping out and a walled city for a cover has to be the ultimate. I couldn't even taste the beer after hoisting this baby to my lips. All $5.25 worth! ©

Loretta Lynn finds bad press better than none

By STEPHEN FORD
NEW YORK — (NEA) — A moldy maxim of show biz promo has certainly worked wonders for one of Country & Western's queenbees, Loretta Lynn: Doesn't matter what

For Saturday, Sept. 20, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you have something important to do, play a lone hand today. Getting others into the act could spoil everything.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You can dictate your terms in business dealings today. The one you're negotiating with may try to bluff a little, but he's holding deuces, not aces.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Enjoyment comes for you at a large gathering today. Shun the lone wolf who wants to drag you off in a corner. Appreciate the whole group.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This could be a great day if you associate with prestigious people. It's an excellent time to hobnob with the boss in surroundings away from the office.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Today you're programmed to deal with big ideas. Tackle major projects you've had on the back burner. Don't get bogged down in trivia.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In a situation where you have a vested interest, you stand to benefit if you sit back and let the other party take over today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You have a valuable ally of long standing. He'll be very much in evidence when you need help today. Seek his advice on an important decision.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your performance is at a superior level today. Those around you will be a trifle envious at the ease and efficiency with which you handle things.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) While some may feel your actions are on the flamboyant or risky side, you'll use past experience to do seemingly difficult tasks easily.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't give out too much information on your intimate affairs today to one who is only curious and could do nothing to help even if he knew all the facts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) It's admirable to be fair in dealings with your mate or close companion, but avoid conceding more than you need to this short-changing yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You were prudent enough to lay something aside for a rainy day. Don't yield to temptation and blow your small surplus on a whim.

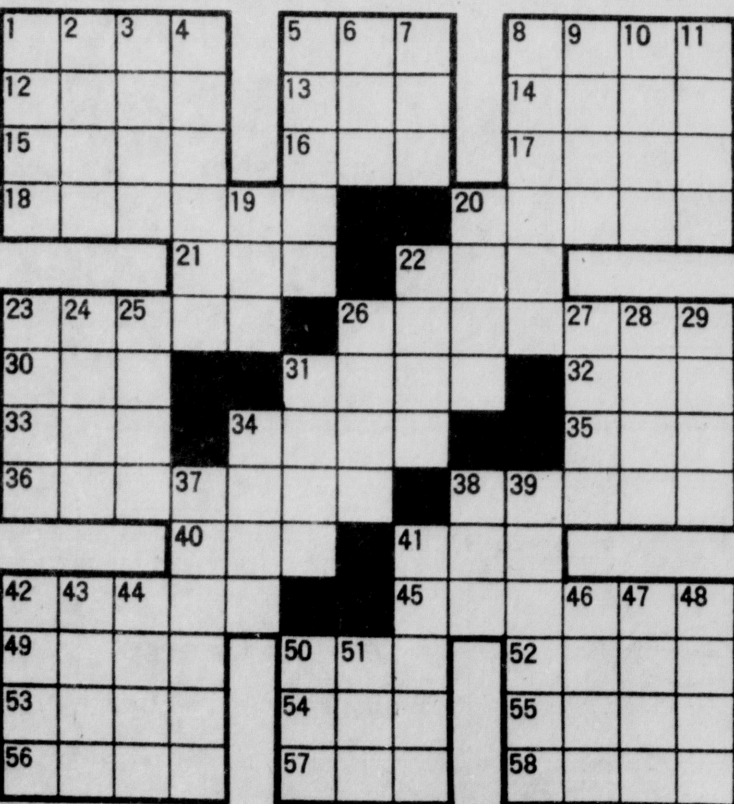

Sept. 20, 1975
A long awaited reward you'd almost forgotten will come your way this year. It could emanate from a surprise source — a venture you'd written off, or an old contact.

kind of exposure you get so long as they spell your name right. Her grasp on the ladies' C&W throne threatened by Dolly Parton and Donna Fargo took on a little adrenalin with the success of Robert Altman's film "Nashville." Though Ms. Lynn reacted viciously to actress Ronke Blakely's portrayal of a country queen pretty obviously based on her life, Loretta enjoyed a rush of popularity.

In and out of hospitals nine times over the past year, Loretta recuperates at her lucrative dude ranch in Hurricane Mills, Tenn. Thanks to renewed interest in her albums as a result of all this free publicity, her battered ego has been softly buffeted by a windfall of record royalties. And Loretta, as much the tycoon as a chanteuse, plans to add a zoo to her guest ranch and will convert a dilapidated mill into the Loretta Lynn Museum. Such modesty.

Another aristocrat of C&W, Tom T. Hall, is also a mite disturbed over unwanted publicity. In fact, so disturbed he's contemplating suing one of those sensational rags which faked an interview with him. It erroneously quoted him as saying country music "stinks."

Still on the subject of C&W, the Pointer Sisters will dip their collective toes into the Nashville pool with their next LP, an all-country disc. Paul McCartney and Wings will launch their first tour of the United States next spring. The former Beatle will include several classics from the hazy days of the Fab Four ... TV's messenger of all that's wrong in the world, CBS newsmen Walter Cronkite, makes a rare public appearance when he narrates "A Lincoln Address" accompanied by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra in November ... Robert Stigwood, producer of "Tommy," will film the Beatles' first conceptualized epic, "Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band."

The release of "We Are Seeing A Lot," Stevie Wonder's forthcoming LP, was held up until next month after Wonder opted to make it a two-record album.

And now for something completely different: The Abnuceals Emuukha Electric Symphony Orchestra, under the auspices of UCLA's Fine Arts Committee, premieres a new classical artist later this month in Los Angeles. Special guest Frank Sappa will perform his "Selections for Electric Guitar and Orchestra" with the 37-piece ensemble ... L.A. will also celebrate Rick Nelson Day" this month and insert a star bearing his name in Hollywood's Walk of Fame ... R&B groups The Spinners and The O'Jays tied for the National Association of Television and Radio Announcers' annual "Best Male Rhythm and Blues Group."

One begins to suspect that perhaps ZZ Top's quiet fears of a conspiracy against them by the East coast rock press is true. When you consider "That little 'ole band from Texas," as they call themselves, broke Elvis Presley's box office record in Nashville, Led Zep's in New Orleans and Leon

"We can't figure out why any time we play in the East, the critics either ignore us or write a pretty bad review of the show," said 26-year-old bassist Dusty Hills. With a voice like ketchup, Hill said, "The audience loves us! They buy out all our shows and really enjoy themselves but the press keeps right on bombin' us. We thought at first it was because our music was too Texan, maybe too different for East coast people to relate to, but anyone can relate to bein' drunk or missin' your woman. We live for our concerts. We like a live appearance more than anything else about his business and it bothers us when we put so much into it and the critics bomb us." Therein may lie ZZ's problem—they overwhelmingly prefer the concert route to the studio and by Hill's own admission, "We're still learnin' about

"FIRE!"

One starts every
45 seconds

A fire breaks out in an American home every 45 seconds.

Tragically, many families who have fires in their homes don't have adequate homeowners insurance.

Maybe their insurance was fine a few years back. But building costs have gone up more than 50 per cent in the last few years. So has the value of many homes.

Make sure your insurance covers your home and everything in it at today's higher prices.

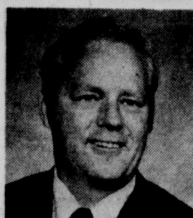

Review your insurance with your Country Companies agent. There's a good chance he can save you some money with coverage from Country Mutual.

Loretta Lynn finds bad press better than none

DIXON EVENING TELEGRAPH, Fri., Sept. 19, 1975

By STEPHEN FORD
NEW YORK — (NEA) — A moldy maxim of show biz promo has certainly worked wonders for one of Country & Western's queenbees, Loretta Lynn: Doesn't matter what

Astro-Graph

Bernice Bede Osol
For Saturday, Sept. 20, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you have something important to do, play a lone hand today. Getting others into the act could spoil everything.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You can dictate your terms in business dealings today. The one you're negotiating with may try to bluff a little, but he's holding deuces, not aces.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Enjoyment comes for you at a large gathering today. Shun the lone wolf who wants to drag you off in a corner. Appreciate the whole group.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This could be a great day if you associate with prestigious people. It's an excellent time to hobnob with the boss in surroundings away from the office.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Today you're programmed to deal with big ideas. Tackle major projects you've had on the back burner. Don't get bogged down in trivia.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In a situation where you have a vested interest, you stand to benefit if you sit back and let the other party take over today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You have a valuable ally of long standing. He'll be very much in evidence when you need help today. Seek his advice on an important decision.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your performance is at a superior level today. Those around you will be a trifle envious at the ease and efficiency with which you handle things.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) While some may feel your actions are on the flamboyant or risky side, you'll use past experience to do seemingly difficult tasks easily.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't give out too much information on your intimate affairs today to one who is only curious and could do nothing to help even if he knew all the facts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) It's admirable to be fair in dealings with your mate or close companion, but avoid conceding more than you need to this short-changing yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You were prudent enough to lay something aside for a rainy day. Don't yield to temptation and blow your small surplus on a whim.

kind of exposure you get so long as they spell your name right. Her grasp on the ladies' C&W throne threatened by Dolly Parton and Donna Fargo took on a little adrenalin with the success of Robert Altman's film "Nashville." Though Ms. Lynn reacted viciously to actress Ronke Blakely's portrayal of a country queen pretty obviously based on her life, Loretta enjoyed a rush of popularity.

In and out of hospitals nine times over the past year, Loretta recuperates at her lucrative dude ranch in Hurricane Mills, Tenn. Thanks to renewed interest in her albums as a result of all this free publicity, her battered ego has been softly buffed by a windfall of record royalties. And Loretta, as much the tycoon as a chanteuse, plans to add a zoo to her guest ranch and will convert a dilapidated mill into the Loretta Lynn Museum. Such modesty.

Another aristocrat of C&W, Tom T. Hall, is also a mite disturbed over unwanted publicity. In fact, so disturbed he's contemplating suing one of those sensational rags which faked an interview with him. It erroneously quoted him as saying country music "stinks."

Still on the subject of C&W, the Pointer Sisters will dip their collective toes into the Nashville pool with their next LP, an all-country disc.

Paul McCartney and Wings will launch their first tour of the United States next spring. The former Beatle will include several classics from the hallowed days of the Fab Four.

TV's messenger of all that's wrong in the world, CBS newsmen Walter Cronkite, makes a rare public appearance when he narrates "A Lincoln Address" accompanied by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra in November.

Robert Stigwood, producer of "Tommy," will film the Beatles' first conceptualized epic, "Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band."

The release of "We Are Seeing A Lot," Stevie Wonder's forthcoming LP, was held up until next month after Wonder opted to make it a two-record album.

And now for something completely different: The Abnuceals Emuukha Electric Symphony Orchestra, under the auspices of UCLA's Fine Arts Committee, premieres a new classical artist later this month in Los Angeles. Special guest Frank Sappa will perform his "Selections for Electric Guitar and Orchestra" with the 37-piece ensemble. L.A. will also celebrate Rick Nelson Day" this month and insert a star bearing his name in Hollywood's Walk of Fame.

ZZ TOP: A conspiracy by the press to ignore "that little 'ole band from Texas?"

R&B groups The Spinners and The O'Jays tied for the National Association of Television and Radio Announcers' annual "Best Male Rhythm and Blues Group."

One begins to suspect that perhaps ZZ Top's quiet fears of a conspiracy against them by the East coast rock press is true. When you consider "That little 'ole band from Texas," as they call themselves, broke Elvis Presley's box office record in Nashville, Led Zep's in New Orleans and Leon Russell's in his hometown of Tulsa, you wonder why the Houston-based band has been all but ignored by the Yankees. Sweeping through the East in hopes of broader acceptance, ZZ's members made a special effort to break bread with their enemies, the elite rock scribes of the megalopolis.

"We can't figure out why any time we play in the East, the critics either ignore us or write a pretty bad review of the show," said 26-year-old bassist Dusty Hills. With a voice like ketchup, Hill said, "The audience loves us! They buy out all our shows and really enjoy themselves but the press keeps right on bombin' us. We thought at first it was because our music was too Texan, maybe too different for East coast people to relate to, but anyone can relate to bein' drunk or missin' your woman. We live for our concerts. We like a live appearance more than anything else about his business and it bothers us when we put so much into it and the critics bomb us."

Therein may lie ZZ's problem—they overwhelmingly prefer the concert route to the studio and by Hill's own admission, "We're still learnin' about the studio. We spend more time on the road and when we cut an album, it'll take us as long as

It's rare for a band together five years to have only three albums out, even if one is gold and another platinum and on the sales charts longer than any other American LP. What may account for their fizzle with the press is that critics are judging ZZ only by their vinyl virtuosity which lacks the sheer presence of their in-person dynamism.

Actually, the Houston trio's music is a few dozen decibels too loud and not very nourishing. Of course that describes plenty of rockabilly bands who have cracked the East coast's cosmopolitan exterior.

HELP FIGHT CANCER

... It Strikes At Any Age

Unfortunately, according to the American Cancer Society more than one million Americans, young and old, were under medical care for cancer last year. Although in the past the disease has generally been uncontrollable, today many types of cancer can be cured if detected early in their development and treated by surgery or radiation.

When the disease strikes, the resulting medical expenses could become terrific. Such expenses could be financially devastating to a family. Therefore, additional income is usually needed to pay for the more expensive types of treatment.

Rockford Life has developed a Cancer Policy to provide broad coverage in those areas where actual claim experience indicates there is a need for such coverage. This policy pays in addition to any other insurance you may now have. Let me help you fight the expenses of cancer.

Redd Foxx to star in NBC movie

Redd Foxx, star of NBC-TV's "Sanford and Son," will star in an NBC World Premiere movie based on a true story, it was announced by Stanley Robertson, vice president, Motion Pictures for Television, NBC-TV Network.

Reader's Digest and Concept Productions will produce the film about an uneducated black man who fought his case to the U.S. Supreme Court — and won. John Gay's script will deal with the incident in a humorous vein, Robertson said. The film will be called "Shuffling Sand."

"FIRE!"

One starts every
45 seconds

A fire breaks out in an American home every 45 seconds.

Tragically, many families who have fires in their homes don't have adequate homeowners insurance.

Maybe their insurance was fine a few years back. But building costs have gone up more than 50 per cent in the last few years. So has the value of many homes.

Make sure your insurance covers your home and everything in it at today's higher prices.

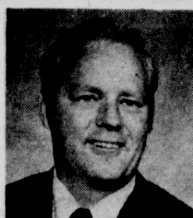

Review your insurance with your Country Companies agent. There's a good chance he can save you some money with coverage from Country Mutual.

Country Mutual—one of the Country Companies. We're a little different than most insurance people.

Dick Dear

DEAR DICK: I recently saw the film, "Jaws," starring a shark whose name, according to a local paper, is Bruce. Was Bruce a trained shark or no? How did they do the last sequence of Bruce hungrily wolfing down the old captain, Robert Shaw? What instrument(s) was used in the music heralding the shark's arrival? Has Richard Dreyfuss, who played the ichthyologist, done any other films?—SAM GREENE, Tabor, Alta., Can.

There were four mechanical sharks, all named Bruce, whose work was intercut in the film with shots of genuine sharks. Of course, the last scene (the shark "wolfing" down Shaw) was done strictly with the mechanical shark. The instrumentation you ask about was composed of basses, cellos, piano and percussion, with a tuba over the rest. As for Dreyfuss, he's a comer, and he's done several fine films—"American Graffiti" and "The Apprenticeship of Duddy Kravitz"—already to his credit. It was Bruce's first film.

DEAR DICK: On John Denver's albums containing "Farewell Andromeda" there is always a notation that it is sung "for Werner and everyone in EST." What does this mean?—S. L. WEYL, Evansville, Ind.

Denver subscribes to a philosophical belief called est, which stands for Earhard Seminar Training. Werner Earhard started this movement, and so Denver dedicated the song to him and it.

DEAR DICK: What movies did Dinah Shore appear in? What years were they made? Also, hasn't her appearance changed drastically for the prettier?—C. BRAUN, Wateiler, Ont., Can.

Dinah has done a handful of films, notably "Up In Arms" in '44, "Belle of the Yukon" in '45 and "Till the Clouds Roll By" in '46. Then she made "Aaron Slick From Punkin Crick" in '52, the picture which she says made her quit movies. As for her getting prettier, she's learned tricks of make-up, to take advantage of what she's got.

DEAR DICK: Could you please tell me how I can order the cookbook of Dinah Shore's. She referred to it often when she had her show on NBC. I need to know the price and where to order it.—SALLY GILBERT, Athens, Ga.

You should be able to get "Someone's In the Kitchen With Dinah" at your local bookstore. If not, have them order it from the publisher (Doubleday).

DEAR DICK: Please tell me if the child who played in "A Girl Named Sooner" is the same child who played in the Sunshine series on TV, grown older.—MRS. D. R. LONG, New Orleans, La.

No, they're two different kids. Elizabeth Cheshire was the girl on Sunshine, and they found a new girl in Indiana named Susan Deer for "A Girl Named Sooner."

DEAR DICK: Will they ever put the Beverly Hillbillies and Gomer Pyle back on the air?—M. J. B., Bay Minette, Ala.

Over my dead body. Of course, re-runs of those two series are still floating around, but there's not a chance (at the moment) of making any new ones.

DEAR DICK: Can you tell me whatever happened to Virginia Hill, friend of Bugsy Siegel?—MARY HAYES, Bartlesville, Okla.

She died.

DEAR DICK: Would you by any chance know where Pat Paulsen was born?—JULIA BETTIN, Aberdeen, Wash.

Pat was born in South Bend, Wash.

DEAR DICK: On the show, Movin' On, who does the singing and playing in the background? It sounds like Merle Haggard.—MICHAEL WEESNER, Bristol, Tenn.

It is Haggard. He wrote the music, too, and it will soon be released on a new Capitol album, "Keep Movin' On." (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

MT. MORRIS — Changes in management responsibilities for four men at Kable Printing Company were announced this week by Kable vice president and general manager William E. Shaw.

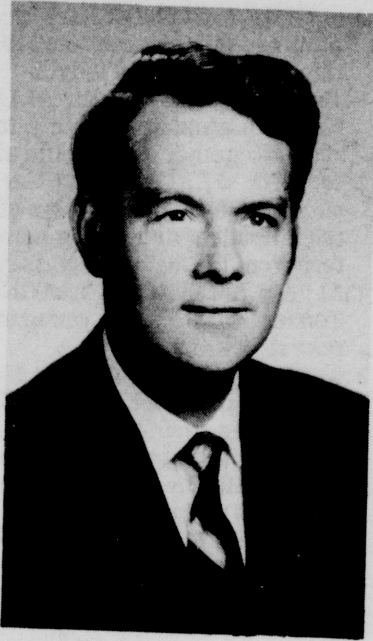

Managers given new assignments are William N. Clark, Richard Cattoen, Richard H. Adams, and Thomas W. Waller.

Clark's new position is manager of planning, administration and materials. He will be responsible for a number of closely-related departments including systems and data processing, purchasing, traffic, and operations planning. He reports to general manager Shaw.

A Mt. Morris resident, Bill Clark has been with Kable since March of 1956. He served first in the estimating department, later was staff assistant to the president, and in June of 1970 was appointed manager of customer service. He was promoted to manager of operations planning and control two years ago.

Cattoen was named superintendent of the letterpress, foundry, and folder departments in 1968, and two years later became finishing and distribution manager. He is an Oregon resident.

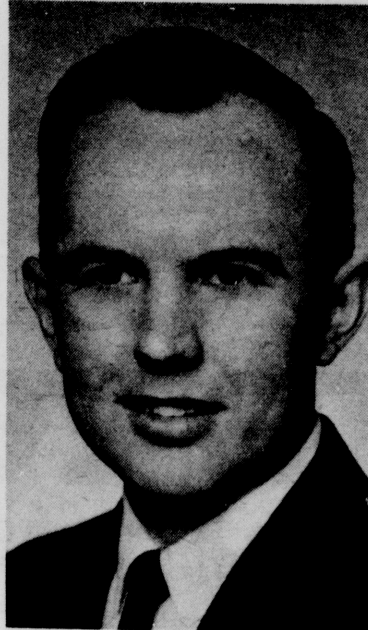

Dick Adams succeeds Cattoen as manager of finishing and will be responsible for the binding, mailing and distribution operations. He has been with Kable 11 years, starting as an estimator in January of 1964. Later, Adams was ap-

Tom Waller has been appointed manager of manufacturing services. His duties encompass supervision of machinery and building maintenance, receiving, warehousing and shipping operations. A six-year Kable employee, Waller joined the company in 1969 as group leader of industrial engineering. Since July of 1973 he has been superintendent of Another change in assignment involves Melvin Kitzmiller, who is now technical assistant to the finishing manager. Kitzmiller, also from Mt. Morris, plans to retire in

Radio Shack sales and income show increases

FORT WORTH — For the 12th consecutive year Tandy Corporation, parent company of the nationally known Radio Shack electronics store chain, ended its 1975 fiscal year June 30, with gains in sales and net income.

Sales of $724,488,293 and income from continuing operations of $36,415,815 were up 25 per cent and 32 per cent respectively, over fiscal year 1974.

"The Radio Shack group," according to Charles D. Tandy, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Tandy Corporation, "led all product categories with a sales increase of 37 per cent, and contributed 68 per cent of total company sales.

"Our special-interest 'do-it-yourself' products enjoyed another substantial increase in customer following this year as popular recreational expenditures moved further toward functional and cost-conscious activities," Tandy said.

Tandy Corporation is primarily a specialty retailer catering to the home entertainment, hobby and leisure markets. Besides Radio Shack, which specializes in electronics, Tandy owns American Handicrafts, a nationwide store chain catering to arts and crafts interests, the Tandy Leather Company which sells leathercraft materials and kits, Meribee Company, specializing in the needle arts, and Color Tile Company, whose stores sell to the do-it-yourself home improvement market.

Radio Shack has nearly 3,900 stores and authorized sales centers in all 50 states and Canada, as well as in Australia, Belgium, Great Britain, Germany and Holland operating under the name Tandy International Electronics.

Radio Shack is also unique in that they own and operate extensive manufacturing facilities in the United States, Canada, Japan and South Korea which produce a considerable share of the company's merchandise.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1975 Tandy reported a net income of $34,595,815.

A Latvian prince and his music

By IRA BERKOW

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Woody Allen removed his puffy-crowned, floppy, brown felt hat and rumped fatigue jacket — easily the highlights of his raiment this evening — and sat down on a chair on stage.

On his feet were black sneakers like those he wore when, with white tie and tails, he recently escorted Mrs. Gerald Ford to the Lincoln Center ballet. He now curled into a contemplative pose and scratched his clumpy-haired scalp. He resembled Rodin's "Thinker," with fleas.

Upon his no-nonsense nose hung spectacles that covered much of his lean face; he looked over the house.

This is Michael's Pub, a much more proper night spot than the name might suggest. The restaurant is tucceod, beamed, outfitted with green leather booths and green-and-white - checkered tablecloths and candlelights. Woody Allen has been coming here every Monday for the last several years to play clarinet with the group he organized, the New Orleans Funeral and Ragtime Band. Teddy Wilson, the venerable pianist, has been performing here the nights Allen isn't.

Much of the capacity crowd of nearly 100 persons had come tonight to hear Woody Allen play. And he does play. He does not clown. The band has six pieces, Allen's clarinet, a trombone, a banjo, a piano, a cornet and a tuba played by a woman. Allen sits in front of her with his head nearly in the mouth of the tuba.

The band struck up "I Can't Give You Any of My Jelly Roll." Woody got into it quickly. He bounced a little in his chair, and under his cream-colored polo shirt, his small chest thickened with the musical jauntiness.

The musicians were vibrant. The crowd picked up the catchy beat. The joint was alive.

One couldn't help noticing the confidence and skill with which Woody played since his public image is one of either a schlemiel or a schlamazel — a schlemiel being one who spills soup on people, a schlamazel one upon whom the soup is spilled.

For example, this is from the program of the Broadway play, "Play It Again, Sam," in: "WOODY ALLEN is the son of a Latvian prince. He came to the United States as a result of a pogrom at which he was the only one who showed up."

Actually, Allen was born in Brooklyn 39 years ago where he grew up to be, he says, a stand-out stickball player before giving up that career for comedy at age 16.

He wrote successfully for Sid Caesar's hit TV program, "Your Show of Shows." He was a fine standup comic, writer, director and actor of several outstanding movies ("Love and Death" being the last), and writer of short stories which have resulted in two book collections. The last collection, "Without Feathers," is currently a best-seller.

Allen's bony fingers fluttered over the black clarinet as he began a fervid solo of the last song of the set, "Sweet Georgia Brown..." It built to a trilling crescendo and merged with the crowd's applause.

And then the Latvian prince in black sneakers, sipping his equivalent of slivovitz, returned to his licorice stick.

Beauty Tips

FRAGRANCE FOR THE TEEN BEAUTY

I have been talking to the teenagers at the High School on cosmetics and the care of their skin.

Another important experiment is fragrance and this column is for them.

The three best known forms of fragrance are perfume, toilet water and cologne. Do you know the difference between them? Perfume, an exquisite blend of essential oils with just enough alcohol as a carrying agent, is the most concentrated form and is worn at the "pulse" spots for highlight and accent. Toilet water is a less concentrated reflection of the perfume which can be used more lavishly. Cologne is the least concentrated with a refreshing citrus note and is used as an all-over body splash after the bath or shower.

Toilet water and cologne are right to wear to classes, for football games, or for just having cokes with the crowd. Perfume is best reserved for dates, parties and proms and is used to highlight the foundation of toilet water or cologne. Don't make the mistake of thinking you are well perfumed with just a timid dab behind each ear. Perfume should be applied to all the pulse spots — throat, temples, wrists, crooks of elbows and behind the knees — wherever the warmth of your body helps diffuse the scent and makes it come "alive."

In Choosing a perfume, be sure it suits the occasion. Surely, you wouldn't dream of wearing formal, dressy clothes to school. You know that sweaters, skirts and suits are in good taste. There is also a classic perfume that is always in good taste — CHANEL NO. 5, a sparkling symphony of floral notes delicately balanced right in the center of the fragrance scale. Neither too dry nor too sweet, CHANEL NO. 5 blends so perfectly with your personal skin chemistry that it becomes your perfume while keeping its distinctive CHANEL quality.

Of course you'll want to try other perfumes for variety and for special activities. Experiment a little till you find those that suit you best. But, always be sure to test them on your skin for perfume is affected by your personal skin chemistry.

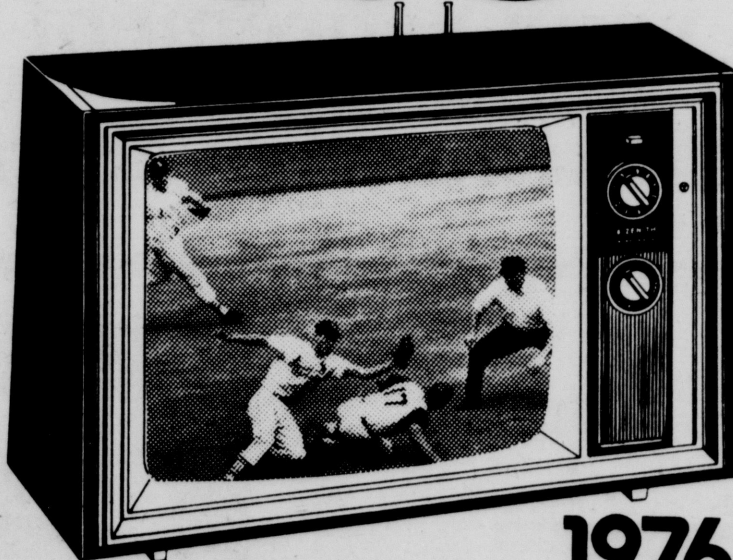

A rule of thumb in choosing a perfume is to be sure that it suits the occasion. For parties and proms, surround yourself with a gay, delicate, romantic perfume. Try CHANEL NO. 22, a shimmering, all-white floral bouquet. For almost any occasion, do try the new CHANEL NO. 19 — a dashing yet delicate tumble of fresh iris, jasmine, rose de main, ylang-ylang, French mosses and sandalwood. A pure luxurious scent.

Make the most of your youthful loveliness with the right clothes, make-up and fragrance. Take time to select your fragrance carefully — as carefully as you choose exactly the right accessories or exactly the right shade of lipstick. Most important of all, enjoy the pleasure of perfume by wearing it every day. It will give you the added assurance of feminine attractiveness and poise so important to every woman.

Talley joins WGN

CHICAGO — Rick Talley, one of Chicago's leading sports columnists, today joined WGN Radio and WGN Television 9 as sports reporter and commentator. He will also continue to write his popular daily column for the Chicago Tribune.

Talley will give his "inside" sports views to WGN Radio's Wally Phillips' huge listening audience, weekdays between 5:30-10 a.m., then beginning Sunday, September 14, and every Sunday through Thursday, joins WGN Television 9's Jack Taylor, Harry Volkman, Len O'Connor and "NewsNine" at 10 p.m., as the sports anchorman.

Known as one of the outstanding sports writers in the nation, Talley's hard-hitting, unbiased approach to every facet of sports coverage, has earned him a large following in the midwest.

His column has appeared in the Tribune since September, 1974, when he moved over from Chicago Today where he had been editor of the sports department since 1969.

In 1973, Talley was named Illinois Sports Writer of the Year by the National Association of Sportscasters and sportswriters. He covers such events as the Kentucky Derby, Indianapolis 500, World Series, Super Bowl, the pro baseball and football seasons, the Masters and the U.S. Open golf tournaments, championship fights, Big Ten Football, Olympic Games and other feature sports activities.

He has covered both the 1968 and 1972 Olympics, the Muhammad Ali fights and the 1970 World Cup Soccer Championships in Mexico. The latter won him the Bronze Medal for world soccer coverage from the World Association of the Olympic Press.

Talley began his sportswriting career in 1958 with the Decatur (Ill.) Herald, then became sports editor of the Menlo Park (Calif.) Recorder. In 1959 he became general news reporter and rewrite man for United Press International in San Francisco. The following year he joined the sports staff of the Rockford (Ill.) Morning Star & Register-Republic.

He was named sports editor of both Rockford papers in 1964 and while there, received several Associated Press awards for his coverage of major sports events.

A native of Pinckneyville, Ill., Talley received a BS degree in journalism from Southern Illinois University in 1958. He played four years on SIU's varsity basketball team and in his senior year was named captain and most valuable player.

When Maude Findlay (Beatrice Arthur, right), a candidate for the State Senate and temporarily estranged from Walter because of it, goes to a party with her date, she meets Walter's date, Kathy (guest star Bernadette Peters), and the sparks begin to fly, in "Maude," Monday (8:30-9 p.m.) on CBS.
